63,561 views Premiered Oct 3, 2025 Putin's Diplomatic Blitz: Vietnam, China Visits Rattle US and EU | Times Now World

Mass protests erupted across dozens of European cities as demonstrators demanded government action against Israel following the interception of a Gaza-bound humanitarian flotilla in international waters. In Spain, students in over 40 cities abandoned classrooms to protest what organizers called insufficient government response. Athens witnessed violent clashes as protesters launched fireworks at the Israeli embassy, with activists announcing a nationwide general strike for October 10. In Paris, lawmakers from France Insoumise criticized the European Union for imposing 18 sanction packages on Russia while taking no action against Israel. London saw protesters deface the Churchill statue and clash with police outside Parliament, while demonstrators in Naples blocked railway lines and Berlin hosted an estimated 30,000 marchers demanding a weapons embargo. Russian President Vladimir Putin referenced the unrest at the Valdai Forum, urging European leaders to address domestic challenges including migration, economic decline, and social instability. #tnworld #timesnowworld #worldnews #internationalnews #timesnews #newsworld #europeprotests, #gaza, #palestine, #israel, #madrid, #athens, #paris, #london, #berlin, #flotilla, #breakingnews, #protests, #netanyahu, #europeanunion, #putin, #valdai, #internationalwaters, #sanctions, #civildisobedience, #massprotests

2,504 views Oct 4, 2025 #BarcelonaProtest #Palestine #GazaWar
In a massive show of solidarity, around 50,000 people took to the streets of Barcelona on Saturday, October 4, to protest against what they called the "genocide" of Palestinians in Gaza. The demonstration was one of several held worldwide, demanding an end to the war and immediate humanitarian relief for civilians caught in the crossfire. This came just a day after Hamas indicated willingness to accept some terms of U.S. President Donald Trump's proposed plan to end the Gaza conflict, including releasing hostages, while rejecting key issues like disarmament. Many protesters dismissed Trump's peace framework as a "rat trap," accusing it of undermining the Palestinian cause, yet acknowledged it might be the only option left on the table. The march in Barcelona highlights growing international pressure on world leaders to act swiftly, as calls for a ceasefire and protection of civilian lives intensify.

Clashes in Barcelona turn violent as police face thousands opposing flotilla interception

Thousands of protesters gathered in Barcelona on Thursday to occupy parts of the port and coastal road in solidarity with the Global Sumud Flotilla, following Israel's interception of nearly all its vessels.

Footage shows protesters clashing with Catalan police as they attempt to clear barricades, while others block traffic and gather in nearby squares. Crowds are seen chanting slogans, waving flags, and staining their hands red to represent the 'blood' of killed Palestinians.

It comes after Israeli forces intercepted all ships from the Global Sumud Flotilla, detaining hundreds of activists from across the world, including Greta Thunberg and 65 Spanish citizens, and transferring them to an Israeli port, Ashdod, for deportation. The sole boat remaining, the Marinette, has now also been captured.

Organisers branded the raid 'illegal abduction', claiming Israeli forces cut communications, rammed vessels, and deployed water cannons against activists. They also stated that the remaining ship would continue its mission to deliver humanitarian aid to Gaza. In turn, Israel described the fleet as a 'political provocation', accusing some participants of links to Hamas, an allegation strongly rejected by organisers.

Protests have erupted worldwide, including large demonstrations in Italy, France, Greece, and Belgium. Turkey denounced the raid as an 'act of terrorism' and launched a criminal investigation on charges including torture and deprivation of liberty. Colombia expelled Israeli diplomats and cancelled a trade deal.

Prime Minister Pedro Sanchez explained that the Israeli actions against the Global Sumud Flotilla were 'a violation of international law' and would not have occurred if the blockade had not been in place.

Flotilla missions have sought to break the blockade of Gaza since 2008. Israel has intercepted attempts by sea, including the 2010 Mavi Marmara raid, in which ten Turkish activists were killed.

La Delegación de Gobierno en Madrid ha actualizado la cifra de participantes en la manifestación que esta tarde ha exigido en el centro de la capital el fin de la ofensiva israelí en Gaza. De los 92.000 que inicialmente habían estimado, las autoridades han elevado la cifra a “cerca de 100.000”. Las entidades convocantes mantienen, sin embargo, la asistencia en medio millón de manifestantes.

Muchos estamos en contra del uso desproporcionado de la fuerza por parte de Israel, pero no olvidamos que el problema es HAMÁS, ni somos antisionistas. Claro, con ideas tan nazis no somos bienvenidos en esa turba de atormentados enajenados.

Esto debe ser muy importante para los españoles, salen a la calle a protestar, cuando normalmente viven anestesiados .No oigo a los jovenes protestar por los trabajos precarios o inexistentes, por los salarios indignos, por la carestía de vida descontrolada, por los alquileres desfasados, por la pobreza galopante y la perdida de poder adquisitivo, etc, etc,....
Es curioso saben protestar por cosas que no les atañen y son incapaces de pelear por los tremendos problemas de su propio país.....

Thousands took to the streets across Switzerland, with the largest rally in Geneva, to protest Israel's attack on the Global Sumud Flotilla bound for Gaza. Demonstrators gathered in Lisa Girardin Square, waving Palestinian flags and chanting in French, Arabic, and English, demanding an end to the Gaza blockade and safe passage for humanitarian aid. The flotilla, carrying medical supplies and food, was intercepted by Israeli forces, who detained over four hundred activists from forty-seven countries, including Americans, Europeans, and Turks. The Global Sumud statement described the detention as unlawful abduction. Protests also erupted in Bern, Basel, Zurich, Lucerne, and Lugano. Israel has maintained a blockade on Gaza for nearly eighteen years, worsening famine and disease, while more than sixty-six thousand Palestinians have been killed since October twenty-twenty-three.

50,000 Join Barcelona Protest For Palestine As Trump's Gaza Peace Plan Sparks Debate

2,504 views Oct 4, 2025 #BarcelonaProtest #Palestine #GazaWar
In a massive show of solidarity, around 50,000 people took to the streets of Barcelona on Saturday, October 4, to protest against what they called the "genocide" of Palestinians in Gaza. The demonstration was one of several held worldwide, demanding an end to the war and immediate humanitarian relief for civilians caught in the crossfire. This came just a day after Hamas indicated willingness to accept some terms of U.S. President Donald Trump's proposed plan to end the Gaza conflict, including releasing hostages, while rejecting key issues like disarmament. Many protesters dismissed Trump's peace framework as a "rat trap," accusing it of undermining the Palestinian cause, yet acknowledged it might be the only option left on the table. The march in Barcelona highlights growing international pressure on world leaders to act swiftly, as calls for a ceasefire and protection of civilian lives intensify.

Clashes in Barcelona turn violent as police face thousands opposing flotilla interception

Thousands of protesters gathered in Barcelona on Thursday to occupy parts of the port and coastal road in solidarity with the Global Sumud Flotilla, following Israel's interception of nearly all its vessels.

Footage shows protesters clashing with Catalan police as they attempt to clear barricades, while others block traffic and gather in nearby squares. Crowds are seen chanting slogans, waving flags, and staining their hands red to represent the ‘blood’ of killed Palestinians.

It comes after Israeli forces intercepted all ships from the Global Sumud Flotilla, detaining hundreds of activists from across the world, including Greta Thunberg and 65 Spanish citizens, and transferring them to an Israeli port, Ashdod, for deportation. The sole boat remaining, the Marinette, has now also been captured.

Organisers branded the raid 'illegal abduction', claiming Israeli forces cut communications, rammed vessels, and deployed water cannons against activists. They also stated that the remaining ship would continue its mission to deliver humanitarian aid to Gaza. In turn, Israel described the fleet as a 'political provocation', accusing some participants of links to Hamas, an allegation strongly rejected by organisers.

Protests have erupted worldwide, including large demonstrations in Italy, France, Greece, and Belgium. Turkey denounced the raid as an 'act of terrorism' and launched a criminal investigation on charges including torture and deprivation of liberty. Colombia expelled Israeli diplomats and cancelled a trade deal.

Prime Minister Pedro Sanchez explained that the Israeli actions against the Global Sumud Flotilla were ‘a violation of international law’ and would not have occurred if the blockade had not been in place.

Flotilla missions have sought to break the blockade of Gaza since 2008. Israel has intercepted attempts by sea, including the 2010 Mavi Marmara raid, in which ten Turkish activists were killed.

La Delegación de Gobierno en Madrid ha actualizado la cifra de participantes en la manifestación que esta tarde ha exigido en el centro de la capital el fin de la ofensiva israelí en Gaza. De los 92.000 que inicialmente habían estimado, las autoridades han elevado la cifra a “cerca de 100.000”. Las entidades convocantes mantienen, sin embargo, la asistencia en medio millón de manifestantes.

Muchos estamos en contra del uso desproporcionado de la fuerza por parte de Israel, pero no olvidamos que el problema es HAMÁS, ni somos antisionistas. Claro, con ideas tan nazis no somos bienvenidos en esa turba de atormentados enajenados.

Esto debe ser muy importante para los españoles, salen a la calle a protestar, cuando normalmente viven anestesiados .No oigo a los jovenes protestar por los trabajos precarios o inexistentes, por los salarios indignos, por la carestía de vida descontrolada, por los alquileres desfasados, por la pobreza galopante y la perdida de poder adquisitivo, etc, etc,....
Es curioso saben protestar por cosas que no les atañen y son incapaces de pelear por los tremendos problemas de su propio país.....

Thousands took to the streets across Switzerland, with the largest rally in Geneva, to protest Israel's attack on the Global Sumud Flotilla bound for Gaza. Demonstrators gathered in Lisa Girardin Square, waving Palestinian flags and chanting in French, Arabic, and English, demanding an end to the Gaza blockade and safe passage for humanitarian aid. The flotilla, carrying medical supplies and food, was intercepted by Israeli forces, who detained over four hundred activists from forty-seven countries, including Americans, Europeans, and Turks. The Global Sumud statement described the detention as unlawful abduction. Protests also erupted in Bern, Basel, Zurich, Lucerne, and Lugano. Israel has maintained a blockade on Gaza for nearly eighteen years, worsening famine and disease, while more than sixty-six thousand Palestinians have been killed since October twenty-twenty-three.

63,561 views Premiered Oct 3, 2025 Putin's Diplomatic Blitz: Vietnam, China Visits Rattle US and EU | Times Now World

Mass protests erupted across dozens of European cities as demonstrators demanded government action against Israel following the interception of a Gaza-bound humanitarian flotilla in international waters. In Spain, students in over 40 cities abandoned classrooms to protest what organizers called insufficient government response. Athens witnessed violent clashes as protesters launched fireworks at the Israeli embassy, with activists announcing a nationwide general strike for October 10. In Paris, lawmakers from France Insoumise criticized the European Union for imposing 18 sanction packages on Russia while taking no action against Israel. London saw protesters deface the Churchill statue and clash with police outside Parliament, while demonstrators in Naples blocked railway lines and Berlin hosted an estimated 30,000 marchers demanding a weapons embargo. Russian President Vladimir Putin referenced the unrest at the Valdai Forum, urging European leaders to address domestic challenges including migration, economic decline, and social instability. #tnworld #timesnowworld #worldnews #internationalnews #timesnews #newsworld #europeprotests, #gaza, #palestine, #israel, #madrid, #athens, #paris, #london, #berlin, #flotilla, #breakingnews, #protests, #netanyahu, #europeanunion, #putin, #valdai, #internationalwaters, #sanctions, #civildisobedience, #massprotests
